About e-filing

Income Tax Return (ITR) is a form in which the taxpayers file information about his income earned and tax applicable to the income tax department. The department has notified 7 various forms i.e. ITR 1, ITR 2, ITR 3, ITR 4, ITR 5, ITR 6 & ITR 7 till date. Every taxpayer should file his ITR on or before the specified due date. The applicability of ITR forms varies depending on the sources of income of the taxpayer, the amount of the income earned and the category the taxpayer belongs to like individuals, HUF, company, etc. This is the modern or advanced method of filing return in which a taxpayer can electronically formulate and submit the returns.

What are the advantages of e-filing?

- The taxpayers do not need to visit a tax inspectorate. All information at almost any time of day can be sent from a taxpayer office.
- Submitting of tax returns and accounting documentation electronically does not require the duplication in hard copy.
- E-filing software greatly reduces the number of errors. The software allows checking tax and accounting reporting automatically, processing data more accurately and reporting in compliance with the standard.
- When e-filing the taxpayer is guaranteed to obtain delivery confirmation, which has legal validity in case of disputes.
- E-filing software provides necessary level of information security and equipped with the latest encryption software to protect privacy.
